

Real or fake?

This week we are thinking about mythical creatures. We would like you to investigate some of the more unusual creatures which fascinate humans - some of these are categorised as cryptids.

It could be a specific creature such as Loch Ness monster or The Yeti or it could be groups of creatures like dragons or mermaids.

Think carefully about organising your notes in a creative way. You might want to organise your findings in subheadings or in different bubbles. You could just make a long list and then colour code themes afterwards. You will need to use these for tomorrow's task.
