

This book has no words, so we have included some prompting questions about each page to help you chat through this story together. When you are finished, read the story again and try and say some sentences to explain what is happening on each page.

Footpath Flowers

Jon Arno Lawson  Sydney Smith

What does the blurb say?

FOR THE BEST CHILDREN'S BOOKS,
LOOK FOR THE BEAR.

On a walk with her father, a little girl gathers a bunch of wild flowers found hidden in the places people usually don't look. Then, in small, loving gestures, the little girl transforms the world around her by giving each one away...

A NEW YORK TIMES BEST ILLUSTRATED CHILDREN'S BOOK
WINNER OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL AWARD FOR ILLUSTRATION

"An anthem for kindness, for beauty in unlikely places and for the things a child sees that adults don't" The Sunday Times

"Has a fine-tuned feeling that all is good in the world" Guardian

www.walker.co.uk

ISBN 978-1-4003-0567-2

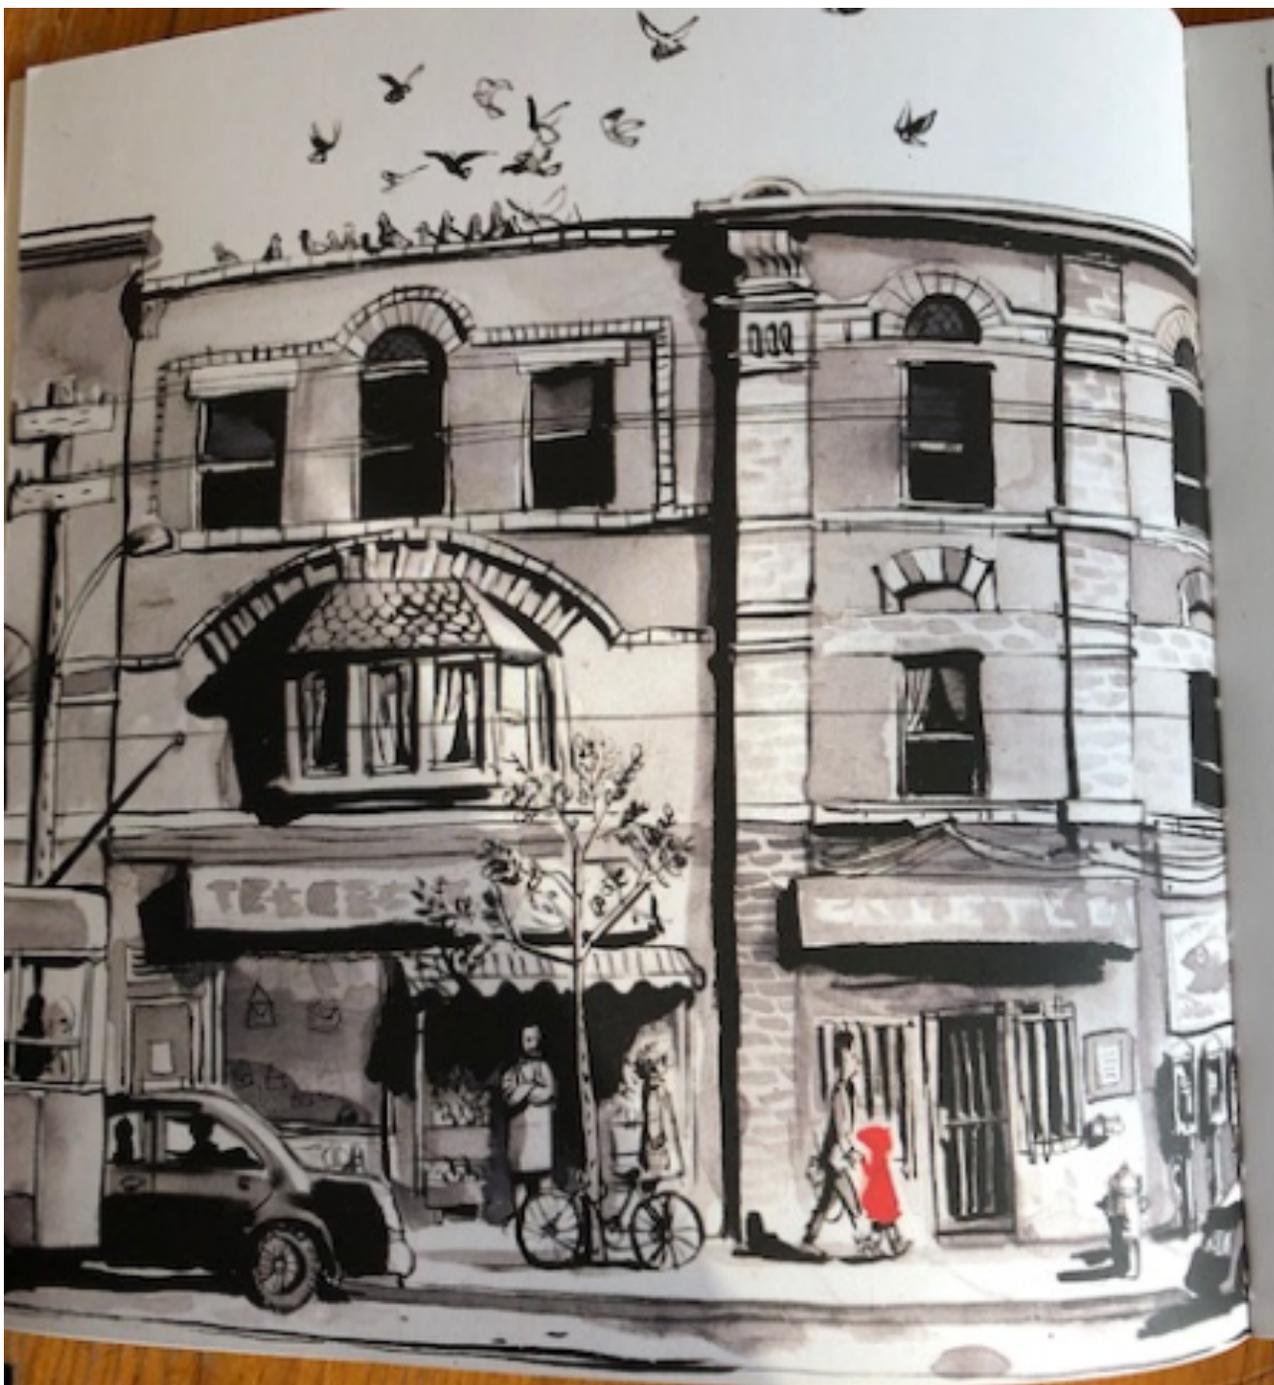

£7.99 UK ONLY

What can you see in the picture?

What do you think will happen?

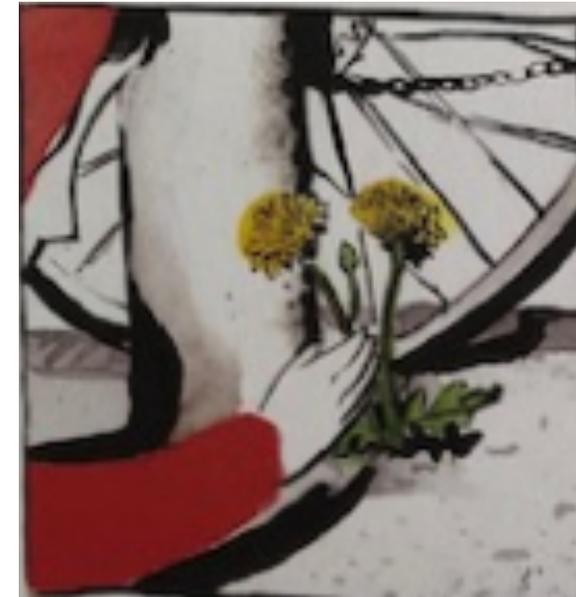

What do you think this girl is like?

Oh look! This book has no words. Why doesn't it have words?

Are the pictures in colour?

How will we work out what is happening?

Can you spot the little girl?

What does she look like?

Where is she?

What is she doing?

Who do think the man is?

Where are they going?

What parts are in colour?

Where is she finding the flowers?

What is she doing?

What parts are in colour?

Where do you think they will go next?

Where is her Daddy?

Is it ok to pick flowers?

What will happen next?

Can anybody see her?

What is she doing?

How many flowers has she picked?

How is she feeling?

What is she holding?

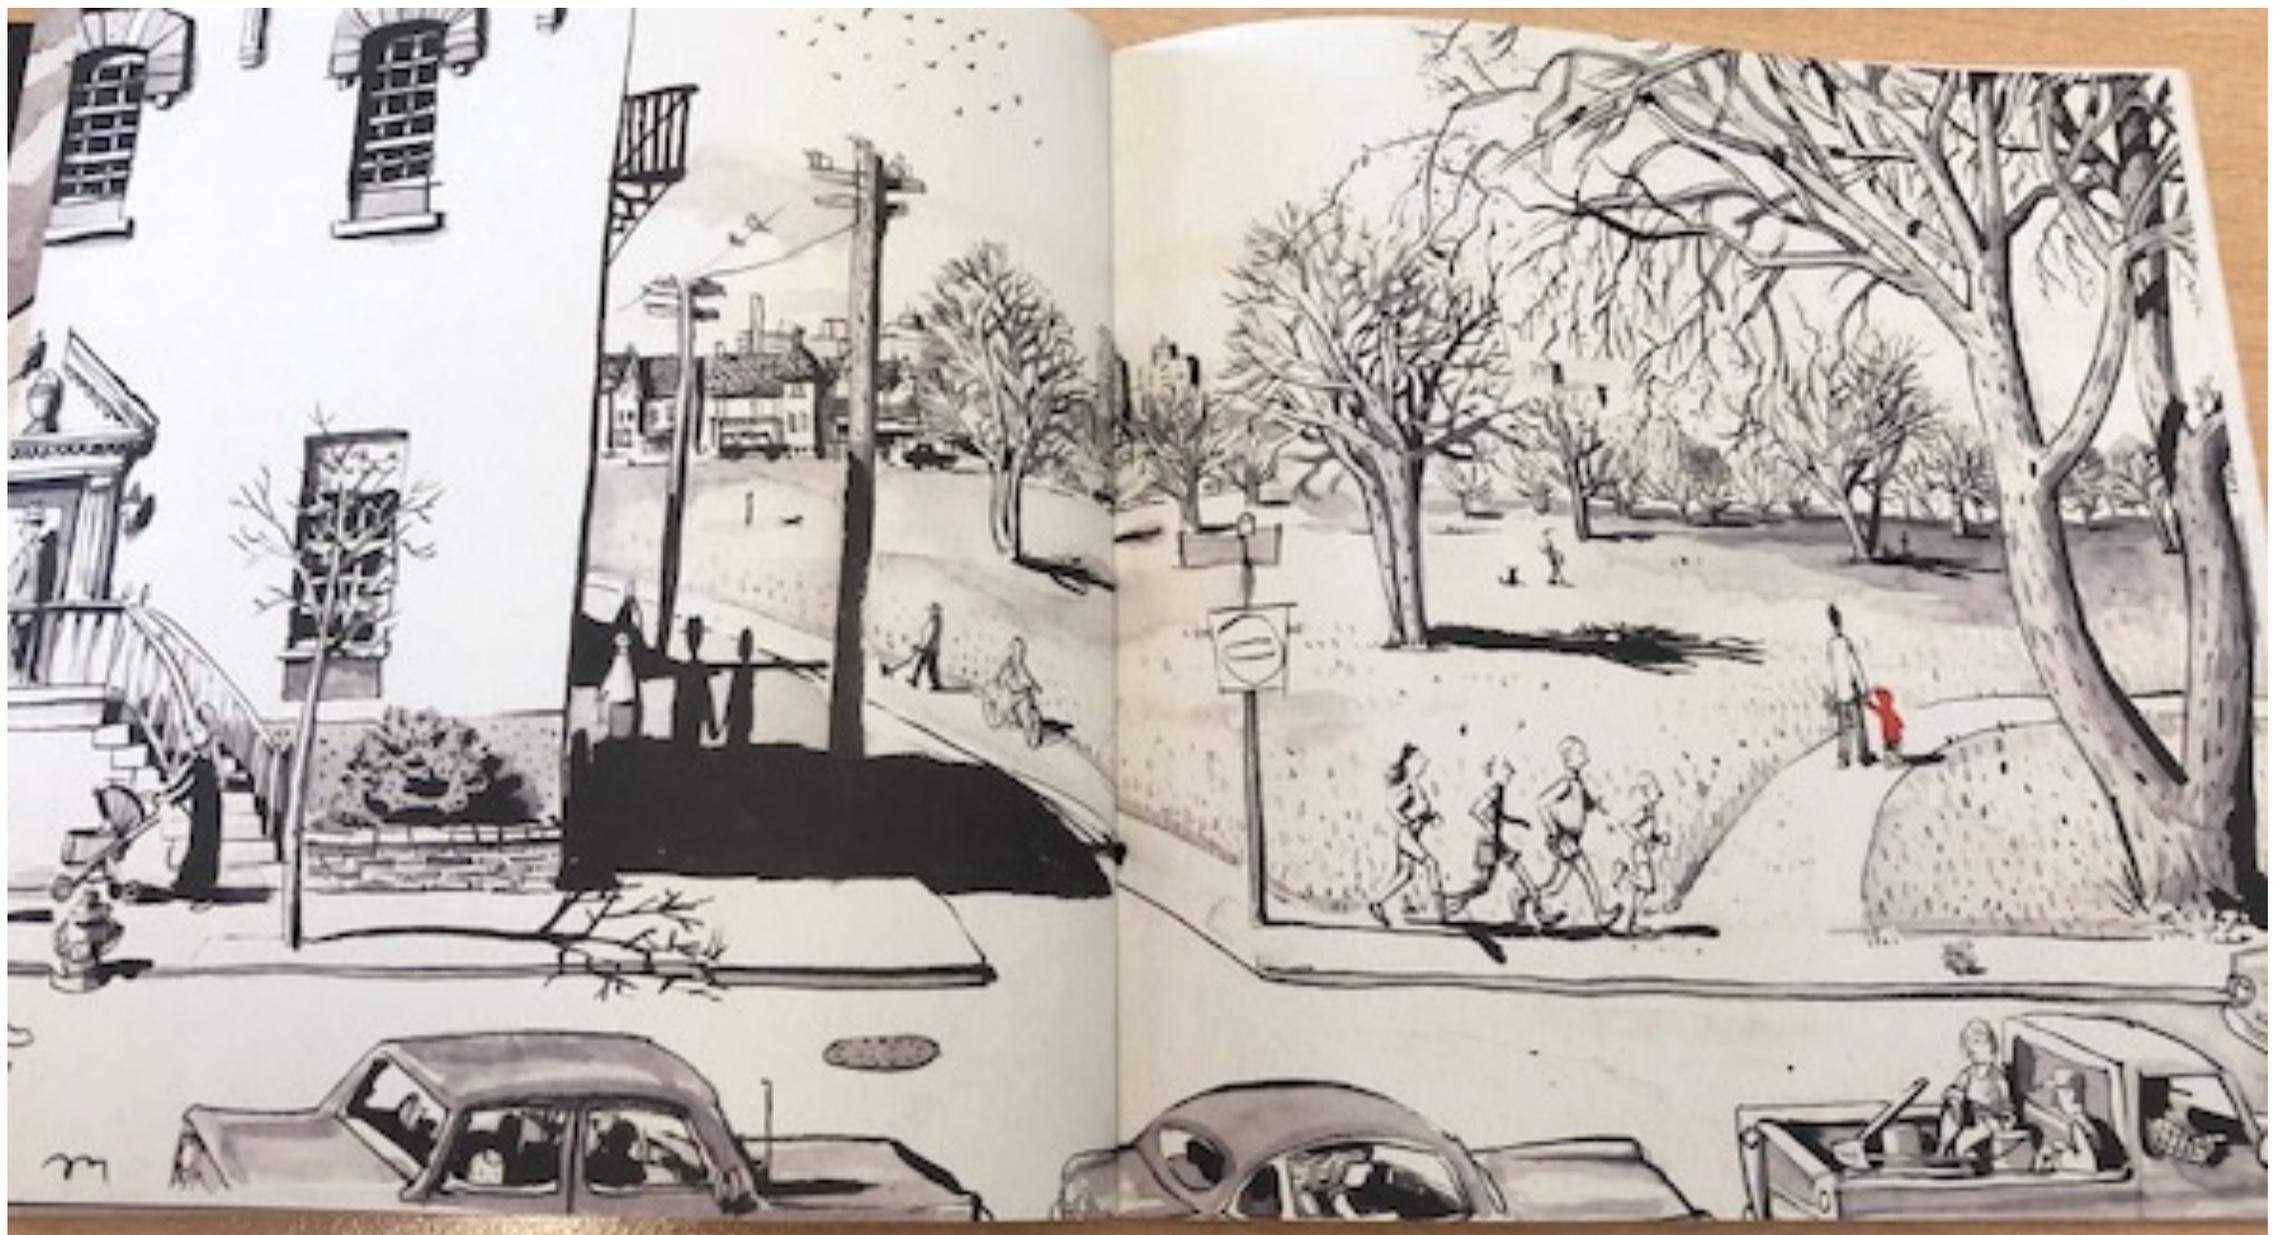

What parts are in colour?

Is Daddy looking at the flower?

Is anyone else there?

Where do you think they will go next?

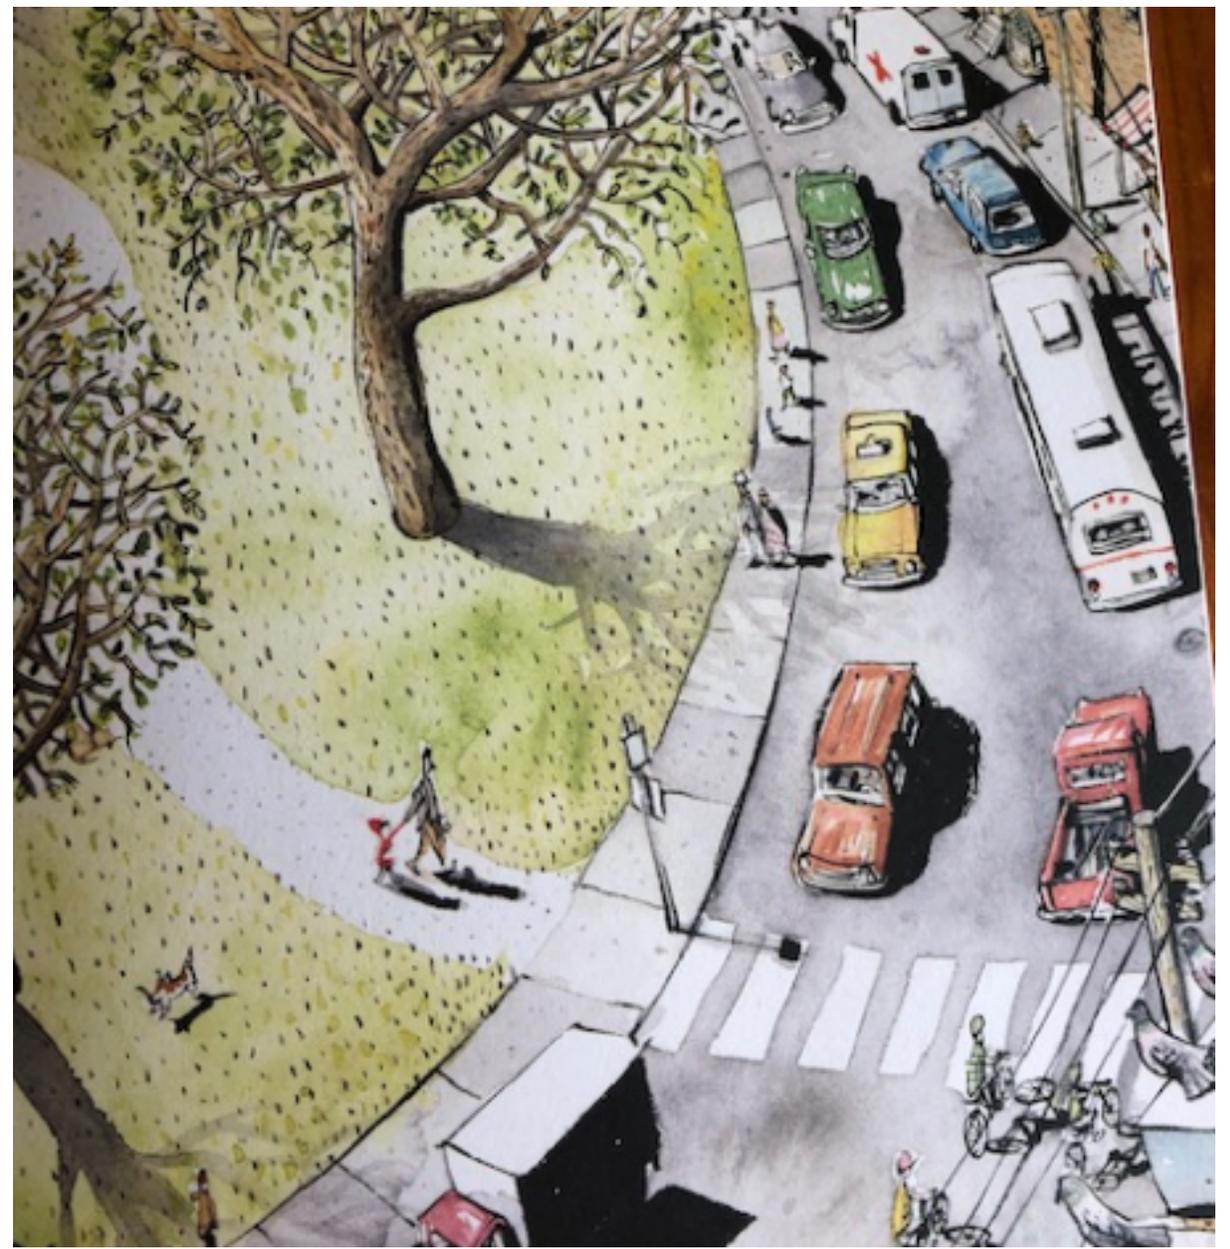

What do you think will happen next in the story?

Can you spot them?

Where are they?

What parts are in colour?

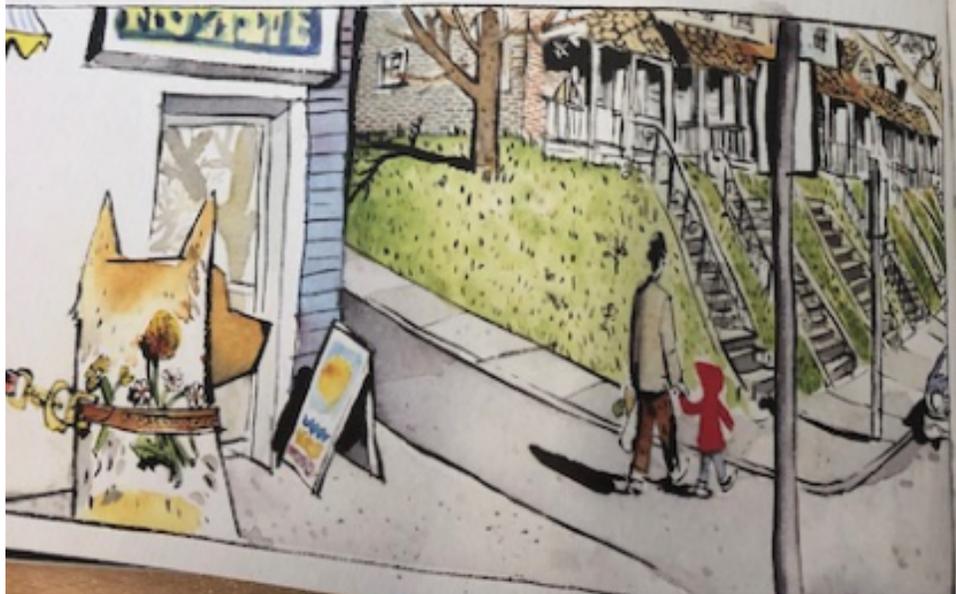

Where are they?

What is she doing?

Who is she giving the flower to?

What parts are in colour?

Where are they going?

Why is she giving out flowers?

What will happen next?

Who is she giving the flower to?

What parts are in colour?

Where is she?

Who is the lady?

Where did she put the flowers?

Is there more or less colour in the book now
(compared to the beginning of the book)?

Who are they?

Where is the little girl? Can you spot her?

Where did they get all those flowers from?

Is anything in black and white?

Who did she give a flower to now?

Did your predictions come true?

Did you like this book?

Can you retell the story and add your own words?

Would you be friends with her? Why/why not?