

Today we are going to have a go at using interesting sentence starters!

There are lots of different types of sentence starters.

One day

Once upon a time

Next

Finally

After that

Then

First

These sentence starters are adverbials.
They tell the reader when something happened.

Today we are going to be using sentence starters that describe how something is being done. These are called adverbs. These words mostly end in 'ly'. Can you think of any?

Here are some, did you think of any others?

Gently

Sneakily

Slowly

Suddenly

Carefully

Quickly

Quietly

Speedily

What is she doing in the picture?

How is she doing that?

What is she doing in the picture?

How is she doing that?

Gently

Quietly

Slowly

Carefully

Pick a word or use your own.
Can you finish the sentence?

What is she doing in the picture?

How is she doing that?

What is she doing in the picture?

How is she doing that?

Suddenly

Quickly

Speedily

Sneakily

Pick a word or use your own.
Can you finish the sentence?

Now you can have a go at the job. Look at the picture and think about what is happening. How is it happening? Can you write a sentence using your 'ly' word? For an extra challenge you could use two and join them with 'and'!